

Statement on PFAS Issue if Districts Receive Questions

XX District is closely monitoring data and information from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency related to PFAS found in some fluorinated containers that hold mosquito control products. We are working directly with the appropriate pesticide manufacturers on this supply chain issue. Specifically, we are returning impacted containers and are securing replacements to ensure there is no contamination. We are committed to following all local, state, and federal guidelines in order to protect the environment and safeguard the public from mosquito-transmitted diseases.
